This counting of years has many calculations, refuting human errors of many translations and interpretations. This document, L-Timeline.pdf and the greater detailed Jubilee-Count.pdf, & Seven-Yr-Days.pdf are not flawless, but at year 2023; are the only documents in existence (to our knowledge) that date the entire Bible as historically written, with major corrections. The complete count is necessary to date the End-Time Prophecies to our current calendars, and to correct many traditional teachings that misdirect Biblical Studies.

3030 38th year of Asa-J, Omri-I died and his son Ahab-I reigned Israel 22 years. Ahab-I made groves for Baal and Ashtar, so Elija stopped his rain for 3 years. (1-Kings 16:28-17:1, 18:1)

3033 Asa-J died after 41 years, his son Jehoshaphat-J is king of Judah for 25 years on the 4th year of Ahab-I (1-Kings 15:24, 22:41-42, 2-Chron 20:31)

3049 Jehoshaphat-J 17th year, Ahab-I dies, son Ahaziah-I is king of Israel (1-Kings 22:40, 51)

Book of 2-Kings Begins - After death of Ahab-I, Ahaziah-I is injured

3050 Ahaziah-I is injured his 2nd year, Elija destroys 50 and 50 troops sent to enquire. Ahaziah-I died with no son, so his brother Jehoram-I son of Ahab-I reigns over Israel 12 years from the 18th year of Jehoshaphat-J (1-Kings 22:51, 2-King 1:17, 22, 3:1)

3056 Jehoshaphat-J gives kingdom to his son Jehoram-J for 2 years, and dies his 25th year, while Joram-I of Ahab-I is in his 5th year, Jehoram-J is king of Judah 5 years (2-Kings 8:16-17, 2-Chron 21:5)

3060 OLYMPIAD 001 - First Olympiad in Greece (4 yr spans for 608 yrs, then 5 yr spans)

Calculated First Olympiad, from recorded seventh (Apion 1.18, 2.2, Wars 1.21.8, Tacitus Annals 14.20-21, 16.2)

3062 In 11-12th year of Joram-I of Ahab, Ahaziah-J reigns in Judah 1 year (2-Kings 8:25, 9:28)

3064 Joram-I of Ahab is wounded, Elisha's prophet anoints son of Jehoshaphat-J, Jehu-I king of Israel 34 years. He killed Jehoram-I, Ahaziah-J, and Jezebel; then slew 70 sons of Ahab-I and all his house and priests in Jezereel and Samaria (2-Kings 8:28-9:13, 24-33, 10:11-17)

Joash-J son of Ahaziah-J was hidden 6 years by Jehosheba, wife of Jehoiada the high priest, as Athalia-J daughter of Ahab-I seized control of Judah. (2-Kings 10:30, 11:1-4)

3071 In the 7th year of Jehu-I, Jehoiada the Temple priest slew Athalia-J, and anointed Joash-J the son of Ahaziah-J who was hidden. Jehuash-J was king of Judah at age 7 with Jehoiada's instructions, and reigned 40 years (2-Kings 11:21, 12:2, 2-Chron 24:1, Antiq 9.7.1)

Note: Spellings of Joash, Jehoash, Jehuash of Israel and Judah change within 2-Kings.

There is also much confusion of tribe affiliation between Kings and Chronicles at this period of Jehu son of Jehoshaphat, and Jehu the prophet; and of two Joash kings and Joash the prophet.

3094 Joash-J 23rd year, Jehoahaz-I the son of Jehu-I began to reign over Israel in Samaria, 17 years. Judah priests had not repaired breaches of the Temple, so Joash-J diverted all money offerings to the repairs (2-Kings 12:6, 13:1)

3109 Jehoash-I son of Jehoahaz-I begins rule of Israel for 16 years (2-Kings 13:9-10)

Elisha was ill and visited by Joash-J and prophesized victory against king Hazeel of Aram in Syria. There were 3 victories against Hazeel's son before winning back the land. (2-Kings 13:14-25)

3111 2nd year of Jehoash-I, Hazeel king of Syria was coming to Jerusalem. So Jehoash-I sent all treasures of Jerusalem to Hazeel in Syria. His servants then killed Joash-J, and his son Amaziah-J reigned in Judah 29 years (2-Kings 12:17-21, 14:2, 2-Chron 25:1)

Amaziah-J of Judah took Edom in battles at the Valley of Salt, then asked Jehoash-I king of Israel to join with Judah. Jehoash-I refused, so Amaziah-J attacked, and Jehoash-I captured Amaziah-J king of Judah. Jehoash-I then broke walls of Jerusalem 400 cubits and took all gold and silver to Samaria (2-Kings 14:7-14)

3125 15th year of Amaziah-J, Jehoash-I son of Jehoahaz-I of Israel died, and Jeroboam-I was king for 41 years (2-Kings 13:9-13, 14:17, 23)

Critical Items

The dates that stand out for uncommon information, are the years around the Yahshua birth, ministry, and especially the year of death. The 187th Olympiad in -03ma (Messiah's age), was attended by Caesar Octavian, Marc Antony, and Herod-I (the Great). In 00ma Antony and Cleopatra (Herod's wife) died in Alexandria, attended by the Priest Herod Philip, leaving Octavian as the Superior "Augustus" Emperor. The year 00ma is when the Yahshua was born, and the infants of Bethlehem were killed to erase the prophesized birth of the Jewish King. Herod-I then kills two of his own sons Alexander and Aristobulus and his Hasmonian wife Mariam in fear of a conspiracy, which was contrived by Archelaus and Antipas, making them the eldest sons. Octavian Augustus considered purging infants to be barbarity, and forced Herod-I to bequeath his kingdom to four sons. Herod was then ill by disease, and choked by Antipas. Herod-I died the day after the Day of Atonement, leaving the kingdom to the Tetrarchs Archelaus, Philip, Antipas, and a grandson Herod-II-Calcis. Herod-II and younger brother Agrippa, and two sisters Meriamne and Herodias, were children of Aristobulus and the Syrian King's sister Bernice. By 10ma, Archelaus was banished by Octavian Augustus, to Gaul Vienna for barbarity and tyranny. (Antiq 17.13.2, 18.2.1)

Tiberius had retired on his 12th year in 27ma, and gave proxy authority to Claudius Germanicus and Caius Caligula. In 30ma, the 15th year of Caesar Tiberius Nero, Yahshua was baptized by John, and the Apostles were chosen in what is known as the start of Yahshua's ministry. (Antiq 18.7.2) Herod Antipas was insufficient in his tax tributes to Rome that year, and Caesar Claudius Germanicus sent General Vitellius to investigate, collect the taxes, and sell the estate of Herod Antipas who was banished to Gaul. These banishments are probably for a trial or hearing; for within a year he was living in Rome, then back in Judea.

The next year 31ma, Philip and Agrippa visited Rome and lodged with Antipas, and Philip convinced his brother's wife Herodias to be his queen, and brought her back to Judea. Philip's first wife Mariamne-II, went to her mother Bernice and her uncle the King of Syria, and assembled an army with Antipas that defeated Philip's army. And this war riled the complaint of John the Baptist, that Herodias; a brothers daughter, had married two brothers. (Matthew 14:3-11, Antiq 18.5.1-2)

That winter of 31ma, and into the spring of next year, Agrippa stayed in Rome seeking influence, and tried to convince Caligula that his statue should not be placed in the Jerusalem Temple, as Caesars statues are in all other Roman Temples. But Gaias insisted, for their neglect of dignity to Caesar. The Jews rebelled at the new order as Antioch Pharisees placed pictures and symbols in Jerusalem, and General Vespasian was sent by Claudius, from Alexandria (Troas) to get the Syrian Army of General Vitellius to hush the rebellion. General Vespasian placed his son Titus in the Army at Judea, accompanied by his brother Domitian who had just finished a two year term in the Egyptian Army. Titus and Domitian were impressed with the legal tactics offered by the 16 year old Josephus, which used courts and fines to squash the riots by taxing assemblies (list of names from Sermon on the Mount). Vespasian invoked a special honor on Josephus, with tax free land and the title of Titus Flavius Josephus.

The rebellion ended with the removal of pictures from Jerusalem, and Caligula was killed in 32ma as Germanicus Guards surrounded him in a tunnel during the 194th Olympiad at Rome. Tiberius learns through letters from the Jewish Priests, of the deceptions and rioting in Jerusalem, and had Claudius Germanicus send Vespasian to be president of Syria, and place Agrippa as king of Judea. Vespasian removed the Tetrarchs and sent Herod Philip to Troas Alexandria to fetch Greek priests for the Jerusalem Temple, which spoke the language of Agrippa the new king & placed Simon-Barnabas as the king's Hebrew interpreter. Over the next year, Agrippa enlarged Caesarea into a Pharisee Priest College that replicated the Senate of Rome under the instruction of Gamaliel, and embellished the city with ornaments and furniture from Jerusalem and the Temple. Agrippa placed Caiaphas as High Priest and other Libertines in the synagogues, and Jews were forbidden to gather throughout Judea.

In 34ma, the 20th year of Tiberius, the Pharisee College at Caesarea discussed the Jewish Priest that assembled masses to teach in the wilderness, and decided to remove him and his followers by trial. The Pharisees captured Yahshua and executed him with great fear of the prophecies, and greater confusion when he returned from the dead. The Apostles created isolated communities, and Stephen was confronted by the Alexandrian Priests, with Herod Philip, and Saul who manipulated his conviction of blasphemy. Herod Philip gathered the Army with Titus, then Herod Antipas, and Costobarus the king of Gaza, and Saul purged and plundered Jerusalem of thousands of Jews that hailed the Yahshua. (Using Josephus' list of gatherings) Saul had a divine warning as he traveled to Damascus; he stopped his attacks, but could not agree with any of the Jews. He was being sought by the Damascus Army for abandoning his orders, but Agrippa sent his son-in-law Barnabas to take Saul to Tarsus, by way of the first ship. The churches prospered and grew in peace by his leaving, so they sent word to Barnabas to take Saul as far as Antioch, where they lived for a year.

That same year of 34ma, Tiberius hears of the turmoil in Judea, banishes all Jews from Rome, and sends General Vitellius from Syria to Judea, to remove the High Priest Caiaphas, and send Pilate (Pilot) to Rome for enquiry. General Vitellius places Greek Alexandrian priests in the Temple and has the objecting priests killed. Herod Philip was beheaded that year for utilizing Roman troops for his personal quarrels, and his head was sent to Rome, by order of Tiberius.

If you reflect on the events of those years, and the fact that the former king Philip was beheaded, you can understand why Josephus did not detail in writing of his partaking in the purging of the Jews. He was asked by the author Justus, why he has not sent a report of these events over the last twenty years of the period of Agrippa and General Vespasian. Josephus replied that he concealed that he was the author of King Philip's revolt, and Tiberius wanted punishment, but the earnest entreaty of Bernice excused his madness and changed death to imprisonment. (Autobiography 65-66) The details of his participation are written obscurely in his autobiography, and many names are different from the New Testament text, but these stories parallel the Apostles books and display Hebrew men as armed rabble stealing corn. So it is difficult to analyze who these men are in fact, but we see the strategy where Josephus desired to take the men without bloodshed, by observing and taking the names of all the assemblies with utmost care. Then publish an edict offering security, and giving them twenty days to repent and lay down their arms. When the Pharisees, Saul, and King Philip acquired the list of names, they plundered their homes and utterly destroyed them, thus the Jews labeled Josephus as a traitor and appealed to Tiberius to have him killed.

Restructured History

The Priest Exiguus (Asiguus) “Anno Domini BC-AD” research had tried to set our first year at the time of Yahshua’s birth by setting his current calendar at 247 years after the Gothic war of Diocletian, which started his calendar table at 532AD. This was then adjusted in further studies to place Yahshua’s birth about three to seven years earlier. James Ussher then calendared the Creation at 4004BC to the final Temple destruction in 70AD. The works of those two historians Exiguus and Ussher are still the landmark timeline standards. Many students still see major conflicts in the studies between the periods of Caesars and Herods, and realignment is either conceded to the standards, or adjusted by many historians.

The research for this book has not found any chronology map that is acceptable to all data, and so it is inevitable that these theoretical statements will not match existing timelines. One of the major indicators that initiated this analysis was during the period of Caesar Tiberius, of the years commonly reported as 14 to 37. Those 23 years were the entire period of the Yahshua’s ministry, and all but the last year of the book of Acts; for in the fifteenth year of Tiberius; John Baptized Yahshua who was about thirty years of age. (30.5) (Luke 3:1, 23) There are several events in that period, where Caesar Tiberius, Claudius, and Augustus were referenced near the same time, so this definitely flagged an offset of what has traditionally been taught as a linear progression to the reign of Caesars. (Luke 2:1, 3:1, Acts 11:28, 25:21) The key to this mix-up and the matching of Roman to Biblical history; is that Caesar Tiberius retired to Rhodes Capri on his twelfth year of a twenty three rear reign. He retained his position of Caesar Augustus (senior), and gave proxy authority to two Princes of the Empire. Prince Caius Caligula was Caesar for five years in Rome to Egypt, and his uncle Claudius Augustus Germanicus was Caesar of Europe at the same time, and both were under the reign of the retired Caesar Tiberius. The overlapping of Caesars was common practice for such a vast territory, and they delineated the regions by establishing multiple kingdoms. Once their inheritance was recognized as the royal house of Caesar, they had full authority to govern as Ambassador to Caesar, and append his name and title to their names and actions.

Another disputed identifier that the ancient historians used, were the games of the Olympiad. The Greek traditions were adamantly supported, and the games were recorded since the time of Hezekiah and Daniel as four year events, but during Caesars as five year events. (Antiquities 16.5.1, Wars 1.21.8, Tacitus Annals 14.21) The games are now held every four years, and the modern historians document the ancient games as four years, but the first century reports are always five years, described as the first to the fourth year, and the year before the next Olympiad, as annotating half decades exactly as the ancient Olympic symbol from Greece links five rings, and the Roman count of four IV denotes the year before the fifth. (Antiquities 14.1.2, Wars 1.21.8) The games were abolished in 424 AD during the 293rd Olympiad by Emperor Theodosius; then artifacts were discovered in 1766 AD; and games were reinvented in 1896 AD as a four year occurrence. Committees restructuring the Olympiads insist that the records of the third century and earlier historians were unreliable. The committees inaccurately counted four year periods instead of the logical five, because only the first to the fourth years were directly mentioned in those documents, yet the coliseums were dedicated to the empire’s five year quintennial contests of the Greek games. (Wars 1.21.8, Tacitus Annals 14.20-21, 16.2)

The tracing of the time change is complicated, but two Biblical references of Daniel and Maccabees pegged the period where Olympiads shifted from four to five year increments. Daniel 7:25 told of the one who would change the times and the laws as he defiled the Altar. Then Maccabees gave 150 years of time in Seleucid years and Olympiads. Those markers allowed the deduction to find the command of Antiochus Epiphanies to alter all laws of the Jews, and change their customs and feasts to commemorate his birth date of December 25th. The Olympiads were four year spans from Oly-001 in cy3060 to Oly-153 in cy3668. Then Epiphanies changed them to five year spans, making the Oly-153 on Seleucid year S145 extended to five years, starting Oly-154 on Seleucid year S150. This was a logical change, but not well documented unless the Seleucid years are matched to the Olympiads. The Olympiads continued at five year spans until Emperor Theodosius banned them in the 3rd year of the 293rd Olympiad in 424 AD. Our calendar was made 110 years later by Exiguus, and he configured the times at four year spans, leaving him in error of 105 years to Yahshua's birth date.

This document dates and times match all first century and earlier historical documents; and the Bible.
The only known conflicts are from the modern historians after the first century.
